

Compensation & Benefits Network of Greater St. Louis Your Local Source for Total Rewards

Who We Are

The Compensation and Benefits Network of Greater St. Louis (CBN) is an organization of total rewards professionals which exists to provide a quality local resource for professional growth, education, networking and knowledge sharing, and to advance and increase the effectiveness of the total rewards profession.

How CBN Can Benefit Your Company

Local and National Best-Practice Sharing

- CBN hosts 4-5 informational program meetings annually
 - Featuring local and national experts
 - Discussing local, national, global trends and practices
- Members participate in forums, share best practices and connect with one another to draw upon the accumulation of their diverse expertise to solve common problems and challenges

Training and Certification Sponsorship

- CBN sponsors 4-6 compensation, benefits, work-life and total rewards seminars annually at substantial discounts
 - Bringing training to St. Louis, saving members considerable travel costs and time away from the office
 - Providing value-added information, professional education & opportunities to gain certifications

Professional development

- CBN publishes newsletters which include summaries of our programs, news about people in the community, trends in total rewards, and more
 - Granting members access to our enhanced website and members-only resources including program presentations, links to professional groups and membership directory
- Members may further develop professionally by participating in and/or leading one of our various committees

Most of our members are leaders in the field and represent major organizations in the metropolitan St. Louis area who find that CBN proves to be one of their most valuable resources.

CBN Membership

The per-person annual professional membership fee options help us offset costs while maintaining our current programs and services. The value of membership far exceeds the nominal cost. If you have any questions or wish to consider membership, please don't hesitate to contact us.
